

ALUMINUM NITRIDE THIN FILMS SAW DEVICES DEPOSITED BY PULSED LASER DEPOSITION

J.A. Pérez^{1,2}, J. J. Romero²,
M. S. Martín-González²

¹Engineering Physics, Technological University of Pereira, Laser and Plasma Applications Group – Colombia

²Thermoelectric Group, Microelectronics Institute of Madrid, CSIC 28760 Tres Cantos, Madrid, Spain

*jaimeandres.perez@csic.es

- AlN thin films obtained from an Al target in an atmosphere of N₂ by PLD. Substrate temperature was varied.
- The films deposited at temperatures over 300°C present the desired composition.
- The acoustic wave velocity on SAW systems increases as the substrate temperature increases.

